

TPG, iiNet and Westnet addresses are moving to The Messaging Company

TPG, iiNet and Westnet have made the decision to stop providing email services. You can opt-in to transfer your TPG, iiNet or Westnet email to another Australian email provider, The Messaging Company (as recommended by these providers). You will not lose any emails, contacts or calendar events as part of the transfer. As you will not receive correspondence from the State Administrative Tribunal to these email addresses currently, it is recommended you switch to the new service provider immediately or create an entirely new email using the provider of your choice (e.g., Outlook, Gmail, Yahoo) which you may then use to apply to the eCourts portal.

How to keep your existing email address

If you would like to keep your current email address but would also like to receive emails from the Tribunal, you will need to follow the steps provided by TPG, iiNet and Westnet in switching to their new recommended email platform.

CTRL+CLICK to follow the links to the official TPG, iiNet or Westnet websites for further instruction on how to transfer your existing email.

Step 1

Register at The Messaging Company

Step 2

Type the PIN sent to your TPG email

Step 3

Continue to use your TPG email address

Step 4

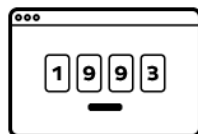

Log in with The Messaging Company

TPG email addresses | TPG Support

Step 1

Register at The Messaging Company

Step 2

Type the PIN sent to your iiNet email

Step 3

Continue to use your iiNet email address

Step 4

Log in with The Messaging Company

iiNet email addresses are moving to The Messaging Company | iiHelp

Step 1

Register at The Messaging Company

Step 2

Type the PIN sent to your Westnet email

Step 3

Continue to use your Westnet email address

Step 4

Log in with The Messaging Company

Westnet email addresses are moving to The Messaging Company | MyHelp